VICTORIA INDUSTRIES.

The Manufacture of Soap--A Visit to Pendray's Large Establishment.

A Business that is a Great Success--Large Exports--Competition Defied.

A visit to a soap factory on a hot summer's day does not, on first thought, appear very inviting. In fancy the fumes of animal matter, rancid grease and other abominations which compose the principal ingredients assail our olfactory nerves, and the great universal remedial agent for uncleanliness receives a condemnation unworthy to a degree. A visit to the

on Humboldt street, will not only illustrate a very useful lesson in the great art of chemistry, but also prove that things are not so bad as they are sometimes imagined, and that a soap factory is, if properly kept, anything but offensive to the sense of smell. The premises of Mr. W. J. Pendray, on inspection, will be found to be more extensive than they appear from the outside, and are so fast increasing that ere long the comparatively small outlines of the present works will be extended to a very large scale and the name of Pendray become the theme of song, love and beauty, and even call into requisition the artist's pencil to sketch its cleansing, health invigorating and healing qualities. Reputation in trade grows as fast now-a-days as the reputation of individuals, and the name of our enterprising citizen will join the other great P, and "Pears" and "Pendray" may yet in rivalry, the universal supremacy raise a soap bubble the bursting of which will furnish soap suds for the great unwashed of all lands and people and nations. On entering the works we were received with courtesy by the proprietor, Mr. W. J. Pendray, who spared neither time nor trouble in explaining the workings of the process of soap manufacturing, both soft and hard, perfumed and unperfumed, the healing and the cleansing article. As a practical manufacturer, Mr. Pendray is fully conversant with the secrets of the business, especially in those of economy wherein the great secret lies. Long self-taught experience in the person of this gentleman produces a good example. The foundation of soap is grease, and the kind of that article invariably used for the commoner and coarser sort is furnished by offal from slaughter houses, hotels, private houses, etc., while the palm and cocoa-nut of the tropics are called upon to supply oils for the superior fancy makers. The first process is to rend and purify the rancid grease and cleanse it from all impurities. This is accomplished by a retort capable of containing some 5,000 lbs. It is then conveyed to the boilers, of which there are four for the various qualities, capable of containing 1,500 lbs. each. There is the blue mottled of cocoa-nut and tallow, yellow soap of tallow alone, while palm oil is called upon for other makes. At present an experiment is in process of making a cheap article of soft soap, to be used principally in the bush instead of tallow for lubricating the skids to facilitate the transport of the logs. From the boilers the article is run into the mixer, where the ingredients are blended together, and from this into the moulds, each with a capacity of 1,200 pounds, where it is cooled off, cut up and pressed or stamped into bars, tablets or cakes as required. The articles principally produced are the celebrated Electric, mottled, toilet of various kinds, shaving, and medicinal soaps. The various presses, cutters and stampers are simple in construction, and perform the work with rapidity and neatness. The soaps are then packed in boxes, the coarser article in wood and the fancy in neat paper boxes, bearing

LABELS OF VARIOUS DESIGNS

to suit the trade. Here, in this department comes in what may be called the tricks of the trade, and we can read "British Mottled," "London," "Montreal," "Eagle," and those special brands of our merchants, the legend "Angus & Gordon" being prominent. The adoption of these names were found to be necessary in order to secure the trade, which speaks volumes for the gullability of human nature. Soap, soft or hard, has a patent effect. In the basement we had explained and were shown the process of the manufacture of "salsoda." Here are tanks capable of holding 4,000 pounds each for crystalizing the soda of commerce. The raw materials for this part of the business are all obtained from England, and the washing soda trade of the concern has become quite an item. The raw material required from the outside is obtained from New York, for what is called stock soap, a paraffine refuse, the perfumery from Montreal, the potash from England, as is also the caustic soda, resin and other chemicals needed. The cocoanut and palm oils are obtained from 'Frisco. A large steam boiler in the basement furnishes power to an eight-horse-power engine and steam for the boiling and other purposes of the manufacture. The refuse is worked up into a brand called "Indian Soap," when the refuse from that article, if any, is cut away. There is a small railway (the first in Victoria) for moving the moulds, a carpenter's shop for making the packing boxes, also a blacksmith's shop; in fact the premises seemed complete with every appliance and contrivance calculated to economize time and labor and capital. The soap manufacturing process appears simple; however, appears to be how to make the article profitably and that secret Mr. Pendray seems to possess. The firm uses every legitimate endeavor to extend its trade, for which purpose he has two travellers on the road, and already exports largely to all points from Victoria to St. John's, New Brunswick, in the easterly direction, while Hongkong and Japan have already received consignments. The expectations are that ere long Pendray's soap labels will encircle the globe. The large warehouse, 60x30, with an L 20x16, was full from floor to ceiling with packages and boxes bearing the neat stencilled labels and devices, addressed to all parts ready for shipment. The manager, Mr. Pendray, is a native of the land of "Tre, Pol and Pen," of the historical "30,000 Cornishmen," and after spending a time in the mines up country started with the assistance of his uncle, the nucleus of the present growing business. The beginning was small, so was the kettle first used, as was also the capital; experience was nil, but the untiring industry, energy and pluck of his race was there, and in large quantities, of which the prosperous condition of the concern are sufficient proofs. There are some six or seven hands employed constantly, with a monthly pay sheet of $500. The out-put is large and increasing. Twenty-five per cent. was added to the trade in the past few months and the Pendray soap factory of Victoria defies eastern competition. The clean appearance of everything about the factory, the absence of offensive smell, dirt or flies was something remarkable, and many establishments in the city of a more cleanly nature might well copy in that direction the state of Pendray's soap factory.

THE GREAT SECRET,

The latter was armed with a Winchester rifle, shot gun and three revolvers, and started out on horseback on Saturday afternoon. Near Dixie he met a colored man named Wm. Jackson in the road and without a word shot him dead in his tracks. The first residence he came to was that of T. D. Hestle, a wealthy citizen. He called Hestle out and said: "My business here to-day is to kill you." With that he shot Hestle through the heart. Going on he met another colored man in the road named Casey and killed him with a shot from his pistol. A pursuit party was now organized by the people, and in half an hour they found the murderer lying asleep in the roadway, having fallen from his horse. He was put in jail at Monroeville.

FIGHT ON A WAR.

St. Louis, July 24.—A very brief special to the Post-Dispatch says that one of the negro officials of Crittenden county, Ark., was hanged by a mob at Marion last night, that a race war has broken out afresh, and that a terrible state of affairs prevails.

RESULTS OF THE EMPEROR'S VISIT.

Berlin, July 23.—The German squadron will sail for Stockholm on Tuesday. The political results of the emperor's visit to the czar remain absolutely unknown. The immediate effect has been to lessen the strain of relations between the Berlin and St. Petersburg foreign officers, but it is noteworthy that while M. de Giers and Count Herbert Bismarck exchange conferences at Peterhof the North German Gazette and other inspired organs renew their attacks against the Russian spirit of aggression.

The foreign press gets absurd rumors that France is to be overpowered and disarmed; that the czar joins the central alliance; that congress will revise the Berlin treaty; that the emperors have agreed to combine to uproot anarchists, whether German socialists or Russian nihilists, and so forth. All alike are fictitious.

The movement of troops from the interior toward the frontier and the reinforcing of the garrisons at Strasburg and Metz are regarded as suggestive of a scheme to surprise France. The real object of these movements is to prepare for extensive maneuvers around Metz during the Emperor's visit to Alsace-Lorraine about the middle of August. The maneuvers will certainly be on a gigantic scale, engaging 120,000 troops, and will be a significant demonstration for French Chauvinism to ponder over.

The Emperor's projected meeting with King Humbert is definitely fixed for October. The Pope has sent a vigorous protest to Prince Bismarck, declaring that the Emperor's presence at Rome would be a note of hostility toward the Vatican especially during the pending crisis with the Italian Government. The Vatican is also endeavoring to have Bavaria and Austria use their influence against the visit.

Queen Natalie of Servia, who arrived at The Hague to-night, accuses the German minister at Belgrade of urging King Milan to contract a marriage with one of the Saxe-Allenbourg princesses. —Nothing will be done openly until a divorce has been obtained, the attitude of the clergy being likely to prevent the granting of a divorce. The friends of Queen Natalie have renewed negotiations for a separation under the terms offered her at Wiesbaden.

YOUNG BISMARCK.

Berlin, July 21—Count Herbert Bismarck will leave for Koenigstein early in August to partake of waters of that place. After a short sojourn he will leave for England it is believed in connection with his approaching marriage to a relative of Lord Londonderry, Viceroy of Ireland.

LEICESTER MEETING.

London, July 24.—The Appleby Plate at the Leicester meeting was won to-day by Ice. The Midland Derby was won by Arrandale.

SEVEN HUNDRED OUT OF WORK.

Cincinnati, July 24.— Coeppendorf & Wittman's mammoth shoe factory, corner of Sycamore and New streets, was burned this morning. Loss, $400,000. Seven hundred people are thrown out of employment.

SHOT IN SELF-DEFENCE.

San Jose, July 24—J. E. Harrison, policeman, while endeavoring to arrest a Spaniard at Gilroy late last night for disturbing the peace, was shot at three times by the disturber but without effect. Harrison thereupon put three bullets into his would-be murderer who died this morning.

"THEY DO THESE THINGS BETTER IN FRANCE."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—Apropos of legal etiquette, I cannot forbear quoting the following paragraph from a recent magazine article, by Mr. Bliss, an eminent New York lawyer. He writes as follows: "I close by giving "two or three rules which were prescribed in respect to the conduct of the "old French Advocate, the order known "as the Noblesse de la Robe. Under a "Government wholly despotic, amid a "nobility corrupt and debased, while the "peasantry were brutalized by superstition and slavery, the French lawyer "was still enabled to command the respect of all the classes, and these rules "are the same substantially, that are recognized as obligatory upon the English "counsellor. Among a variety of them I "find the following:

"The advocate was not to exhibit a "sordid avidity of gain, by putting too "high a price upon his services.

"He was not to make any bargain with "his clients for a share of the fruits of "the judgments he might recover.

"He was not, under pain of being "disbarred, to refuse his services to the "indigent and oppressed."

These rules our provincial barristers might, with very great advantage, lay to heart. Some of the local Bar have, within the last fortnight, enjoyed the privilege of appearing before Chancellor Boyd, at Vancouver, and cannot fail to derive advantage from the example of that accomplished lawyer and courteous gentleman; one who, although now a judge, may fairly be classed amongst the noblesse de la robe.

CLAUDE.

Sporting Notes.

A game of baseball between the Amities and Vancouver was in progress this afternoon at Beacon Hill.

The deposit made by a city crew to row four members of the fire department was forfeited by the former.

T. Hodges won the foot-race last evening. He was allowed ten yards in one hundred yards by H. McDowell.

John Teemer telegraphed O'Connor today that he will row him for $1,000 a side and the championship of America.

The return match between the Victoria and Vancouver cricket clubs will probably be played at Beacon Hill on Saturday the 4th of August.

Albert Hamm, of New York, has challenged Henry Peterson, of San Francisco, to a sculling match over the Alameda course, for $500 or $1,000 a side, on any date after October 20th.

M. W. Ford, the all-round amateur champion of America, in jumping on the beach at Cape May broke the record for three standing broad jumps in bare feet. He cleared thirty-two feet, two and one-half inches.

Last season six of the big players in the League had a batting average of .300 or over, while this year scarcely a dozen have reached that mark. This falling off is due to the abolition of the base on balls as a hit, and reduction of the strikes to three has considerable to do with it.

Mike Conly, of Ashland, Wis., has cabled Jem Smith, champion of England, accepting the latter's challenge to fight any man in the world, Kilrain excepted, for $2,500 a side. There seems to be every prospect that a match will be arranged. The fight is to take place in France or Spain.

The Tweewater grist and saw mill and a large quantity of lumber owned by J. H. Brick were burned on the 19th ult. Loss $10,000; insured for $2,000.

FORKS OF THE SKEENA

The Scene of the Trouble with the Indians Graphically Described.

Dangers of the River--Wild and Lawless Natives--A New Litany.

Mr. John Hector Inkster, a relative of Sheriff Inkster, Winnipeg, writes to his family in that city from Hazelton, the place on the Skeena where the Indian outbreak has occurred. Having described his journey overland and said something not very complimentary about Victoria enterprise, he proceeds to relate his experiences on the trip from Fort Simpson to Hazelton: "From Simpson I started through the mountains for Hazleton—a place 200 miles in the interior. Nothing of any particular note happened in the ascent of the rapid and dangerous Skeena river, until we arrived at a place where the river is compressed into such a narrow space that one can easily throw across. We lost one of our men here. The men had taken the canoe above the canyon and were intending to cross the river when the current proved too strong. I was about half-way down and was wondering at the terrifying aspect of the waters as they were exasperated into the fiercest rage and tumult between confining ledges of rock, when I was awakened from my reverie by loud and hysterical shrieks. In a moment the canoe swept past containing four men. As the little craft reached me one of the men jumped frantically for the shore. The noise and roar of the cataract evidently had confused him, for he jumped against the face of a wall-like rock and bounded back into the water. He immediately sank, and as the seething currents rolled him onward he came but once to the surface. We watched patiently for the appearance of his body at the foot of the rapid but all we saw was his hat and paddle, which whirled in the eddy so pitifully that his companions wailed in uncontrollable grief. The other men were saved through what means they themselves did not know, for their canoe was smashed to pieces. We had two or three other narrow escapes of losing our canoes, but nothing actually serious after all happened, and we reached the forks of the Skeena all right. Hazelton, or the "Forks" as it is generally known, is an Indian village of about 250 souls, when they are all at home, which is never, for the simple reason that the country immediately around here affords them no support and the people thus from necessity are compelled to inhabit chiefly fishing sites and productive hunting-grounds, where after heaping up riches in the shape of dried salmon, they come into the "Forks" and enjoy the benefits and attractions of town life "as it were." The situation of the Forks is hard to describe. The place is entirely surrounded by mountains. You are so completely confined that it is like living down in a large well, you look up out of it and you see nothing but gigantic peaks and crags; everything that strikes the eye is formed to make you despise your puny self before those grand sublimites of nature. I cannot hunt, for there is absolutely no game now or any other time of the year, not even rabbits. I have not tasted fresh meat of any kind since I left the steamer in the end of June last; but as bad as we are off for food, I take consolation in the fact that A. C. Murray, my old school-mate is ten times worse. You know the Bible sentiment about the uniformity of food—even bread. Well its iron truth has sunk deep into my soul, for I have tried to live "by canned beef alone." What am I doing you might wonder? Well, I have been so busy with the Indians for the last six weeks that I have not read a book or a paper, but have went to bed tired, weary and depressed every night, so you see on this score I have held out no encouragement to that devil which proverbially has so much for idle hands to do. The Indians here are all heathens and so sturdily refuse to embrace Christianity that even the enticing aids of Roman Catholic observance was so lost upon them that a priest who labored long among them was forced from sheer discouragement to give up in wrath and disgust, this extremely strong field of heathendom. They are wild and lawless, with no more notion of fairness than a wolf, whose character they exactly parallel, inasmuch as when they come to the store alone they are almost vexatiously meek and lowly, but when they collect in numbers they are loud-mouthed and menacing, and seemingly ready to visit two or three kinds of vengeance upon you. I sometimes quiver with suppressed rage, and the noble disposition, in spite of policy, to caress one or two of them with a club, oftentimes seizes me. They are low in stature and degraded in morals, and so obtuse in perception and understanding that the simplest arithmetic hopelessly confounds them; and anything in the way of exchange of values is so confusing to their minds that, in irritation, I sometimes wish I could hire an earwig to carry the sense into their miserable brains. Their facial appearance consists of mouth and cheekbones. I suppose I ought to mention their small and flat noses, but it is "hardly anything to speak of," neither will I enumerate the other features, because I will be sure to encroach upon the territory monopolized by the aforesaid parts. It is among such people I am cast now—a people who murdered one storekeeper, worried the other so much that he died, and the third was fast going into a decline when I was sent up to relieve him during the busy time of the season. I have been quite alone, but he will be back shortly, so I feel more light-hearted to-night than I have been for a long time. Whenever I think of the situation I don't wonder that it is not only my heart which is disquieted within me, but even my very kidneys. If I had anything to do with the ordering of a new litany I should certainly put in the clause, 'From salmon-stinking Indians and petty positions in solitude, good Lord deliver us.' Please do not think that I am moping and pining, but just remember that even the strongest trees, when first transplanted, wither and sicken with their new situation; and you may depend that I will do my best to resign myself to this life of suspended vitality."

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

On Tuesday next, the 31st inst., the real estate owners of the city will have an opportunity of pronouncing for or against certain improvements, by granting or refusing authority to the Mayor to raise by way of loan the following sums of money:

For sewerage purposes	$ 80,000
For stone retaining wall at James Bay bridge	30,000
For water works purposes	20,000
For fire department	15,000
For park purposes	12,000
For cemetery purposes	9,000
For additions to City Hall	8,000
Total	$125,000

In addition to the above, which are "loan by-laws," authority will be asked by the council to expend the sum of $450 in acquiring possession of the old Mechanics Library and $1,200 per annum in its maintenance thereafter, these expenditures to be made from the ordinary revenues of the municipality.

The first by-law, as enumerated above, asks the council for permission to borrow $30,000 to build a sewer along Johnson street westward from Blanchard street. This is undoubtedly the most important of the proposed improvements, and one that ought to commend itself to the favorable consideration of our citizens. The sewer will form part of the extensive sewerage scheme the plans of which are now in possession of the corporation. The complete system, it will be remembered, was submitted to the people some time ago, but the enormous expenditure that would necessarily have to be undertaken to carry it out in all its details alarmed many of the largest property owners, and the scheme, in accordance with the expression of a public meeting, was temporarily shelved by the withdrawal of the by-law. The principal that "half a loaf is better than no bread" applies to sewerage as to other matters, and the determination of the council to construct a portion of the PICKERING system, and in the quarter of the city where drainage is most required, will we think be endorsed by every citizen who has the welfare of Victoria at heart. The property owners on Johnson street ravine—the natural water-course and in fact the only effective sewer in the center of the city—have objected to its use as a sewer any longer, and have applied to the Supreme Court for an injunction to restrain either the corporation or the individual from tailing sewerage matter into said ravine. The immediate construction of a sewer on Johnson street is therefore forced upon the city, as a large area has hitherto been dependent upon the ravine as an outlet. This area may be defined as follows: Commencing at Fort street and following Vancouver to View, thence to Blanchard and along that street to the ravine and down the ravine to the harbor, with a portion of Yates, Douglas and Government streets having outlets on the same waterway. A number of the streets on the north side of the ravine have also a discharge into it. Hence if the money should be refused by the ratepayers, the injunction applied for would almost certainly be granted, as the court has only staid its hand for the present to allow the corporation to take such steps as will abate the nuisance. In that event the inhabitants of that portion of the city will have to devise some other plan to accomplish the end in view. The benefits that will be derived from the construction of the sewer on Johnson street will, we feel convinced, be so evident and unmistakable that citizens residing in the other thickly populated districts will not rest satisfied until they shall have the system extended to every portion of the city.

The city water distribution service is not what it ought to be. Its extension is much needed, as well as the laying of larger pipes where there are now small ones. When the 16-inch main is discharging water in the city its full benefits will not be appreciated without a considerable outlay on distribution service. This improvement cannot be carried out without funds, and it would be a short sighted policy to wait for the increased supply through the new main and then find that the water could not be distributed to those in need. We cannot help but feel that the majority of the council made a serious mistake when they refused to adopt Mayor GRANT's recommendation, made to the council at the first sittings of this year, viz, to ask the ratepayers for a sufficient sum of money to complete the whole necessary water works improvement so that its benefits might be enjoyed by the citizens at the earliest possible day. On that occasion the Mayor was informed by the majority that it would not be necessary to borrow any money for water works purposes during this year. Instead of asking for $20,000, it seems to us that a sufficient sum ought to be obtained to place the supply and service on the most perfect footing both as to quantity and quality.

The library bylaw only asks that the ratepayers give the council power to purchase the books which belonged to the Mechanics Institute Library, paying therefor not more than $450, and that the sum to be expended in any one year in maintenance shall not exceed $1,200. No loan is asked for this purpose. Let it pass by all means.

On Beacon Hill Park we have always been of the opinion that a considerable sum of money should be expended, if laid out judiciously; and we are not going to say that it should not be proceeded with this year. But we are of opinion that the Council ought to have caused a plan for its improvement to have been prepared so that citizens could vote intelligently. Heretofore it would have been of little utility to expend large sums in the Park, but now, as there will be, at no distant day, an abundance of water to the top of the hill, much could be done to make it even more beautiful than Nature has left it.

An efficient fire department is one of the most desirable and necessary branches of municipal government, as it affords protection to life and property. Recognizing this fact, the Council ask for $15,000 to be applied in the purchase of a new steam fire engine and other apparatus, so that the department may be in a position to effectually prevent any serious conflagration. A better alarm system is, we understand, among the improvements contemplated. It is undoubtedly much needed.

As for borrowing $30,000 to be expended on a retaining wall reaching from Government street to Bird Cage Walk, we think that before this sum of money was asked for that the council should have been prepared with a well digested scheme, accompanied by closely approximated estimates of the character and ultimate cost of the proposed work. Most of us feel that the filling-in of the mud flats would be a great improvement to that part of the city, the carrying out of which in a proper manner would, we imagine, cost from $150,000 to $200,000. This bylaw will very probably be defeated, and under all the circumstances it will perhaps be better that it should be.

Eight thousand dollars for an addition to the City Hall, seems to be a needed improvement, inasmuch as the police barracks and lockup are much cramped; in fact they are very far from being adequate to the city requirements. As the volume of corporation work increases, with the largely growing revenue, new offices are needed for the officers.

A BOLD PROPOSITION.

The Vancouver News and the Westminster Columbian have been having a friendly tiff over the merits of their respective towns. The latter said some pretty hard things to his contemporary, but the News man got even when he suggested that a large ditch be cut from the Fraser to the head waters of the inlet at Port Moody, in order to divert the river that way. By doing this the News thinks the Vancouverites would capture all Westminster's salmon and they would have plenty of fresh water to kill the toredo worm. Vancouver seems to have made up her mind to have a share of whatever is going, but she will hardly get to be the terminus of the Fraser. Until the mouth of the Inlet is widened sufficiently to enable the extra volume of water to pass out it would be better to leave the river where it is or somebody will get wet.

A ZULU WAR.

Great Britain is likely to have another little war on her hands. The Zulus have been of late in a disturbed condition. The tribes have been quarrelling among themselves and they have given an unwilling and anything but perfect obedience to British authority. The origin of the present unpleasantness was a dispute between two chiefs, Dinizulu and Mnyamanu, about cattle. Some of Dinizulu's people seized and drove off cattle belonging to Mnyamanu. The aggrieved chief applied to the Administration of Zululand for redress. Writs were issued against Dinizulu and some of the principal men of his tribe as cattle stealers. A force of police and a detachment of dragoons were sent to enforce the writs. The officers of the law were resisted and a conflict took place. The police had to fall back upon the dragoons, and in protecting the police some of the dragoons were killed. Hostilities were continued, reinforcements have been sent from Egypt to the seat of war and the situation begins to look serious. A correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette writing from Natal says that "the bulk of colonial opinion condemns the blunders which have led up to so unfortunate an occurrence." He adds, "the worst of it is that when blunders have been committed, the confidence in the official capacity to avoid blundering is greatly diminished." The Zulus have already proved that they are not by any means to be despised as enemies, and disagreement with them is likely to lead to a misunderstanding with the Boers, who have shown themselves to be good fighters.

Regina Journal: The latest phase of the permit boom under Royal is the report that an Order-in-Council is to issue upon his recommendation permitting not only the sale, but also the manufacture of strong beer throughout the Northwest. This report we can hardly give credence to, as it means a radical change in our present law without consulting the people.

CLIMBING ST. ELIAS.

A Party of Adventurers Now Engaged in the Task.

Three Englishmen—H. W. and Edwin Topham and George Becks—and an American, Mr. Wm. Williams, of New London, Conn., have sailed from Sitka, Alaska, for Yakutat, and from there will attempt the perilous ascent of Mt. St. Elias.

Two years ago a similar attempt was made, but it met with little success. That expedition was dispatched and fitted out by the New York Times and was committed to the care and superintendance of Lieutenant Schwatka and Professor Libbey, of Princeton College, N. J. A young Englishman, Lieutenant Seton-Karr, joined the expedition. He had had some experience in climbing and succeeded in reaching the height of 7,200 feet above the sea. Professor Libbey appears to have reached a nearly similar altitude, but in a different direction. The height of the mountain is unknown. Some consider it to be at least 30,000 feet high, while others credit it with being only 17,000. Whatever its real height may be, this much is certain, that it presents the longest snow climb of any mountain (with perhaps one exception) in the world. The "snow-line" may be defined as an imaginary line drawn upon the mountain's sides, above which the heat of summer is unable to melt the snows of winter. On the Himalayas this line is at a height of about 17,000 feet; on the Andes, 12,780 feet; on the Alps of Switzerland, about 9,000 feet; on the Rockies and Selkirks, about 7,500 feet. Upon St. Elias it is said to be considerably below 1,000 feet above the sea level. Anyone who succeeds in ascending as much as 10,000 feet up Mt St. Elias, will have ascended higher above the region of perpetual snow than has yet been accomplished. What the nature and condition of the snow may be at such a height above the snow level is a matter of conjecture. To climb up a steep snow slope certain conditions are necessary, and one of the most important is that the sun shall have had sufficient power to soften the snow in order that the pressure of the foot may cause it to bind and thus form a step. When snow is not in such a condition it is impossible to mount it. Good weather and good packers are indispensible. Indian porters are most difficult to get, superstition and other causes combining to dissuade Indians from joining. The members of the expedition are very hopeful of success if only they can reach the foot of the mountain with three weeks' food and good weather. The scheme at present is to land at the base of the great glaciers, which descend to the sea at the northwest of Yakutat Bay; to accomplish which, one of the most serious obstacles—that of the surf—presents itself; and from that point to travel up ice and moraine some sixty miles to the base of the mountain. The last camp will be made as high up the mountain as possible, and from that camp a dash will be made to reach the summit. There is one thing, and only one thing, most favorable to the success of such an undertaking, and that is the glorious brightness of the nights in Alaska. This will enable the party to travel night and day when making their final attempt for the summit.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous. *

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. CORNER LOTS.

BY ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

"They are made of lavender," replied the dealer, "and you put them in the bureau drawer to make your clothes smell nice, at any rate that is what the young lady who left them here says. I never saw any myself before. I guess I'll sell 'em for souvenirs of southern California. They are made by a native Californian, and it will be a change on horned toads."

"That is a good idea," said Mr. Brown calmly. "In fact I have an aunt at home who would not like horned toads, so I will take some of these. How many have you got? A dozen? Well, you can let me have the lot."

As the pleased dealer was wrapping up Mr. Brown's purchase that gentleman flipped the ash from his cigar and said, after a pause, "What do you mean by 'native Californian? Is not every one born in California a native?"

"Well, yes," said the dealer, with patient forbearance for the ignorance of this "tender foot," who was so good a customer, "I suppose they are. But when we say native Californian we mean the Spanish or Mexican people, who lived here when the country belonged to the greasers. Have you ever read 'Two Years Before the Mast,' by Mr. Dana? If you haven't I have got a copy here I would like to sell you. Mr. Dana was in San Diego back in the thirties. There was not much here then except a few adobe houses in Old Town and the mission, but he gives you a pretty good idea of the native Californian. Some of them came originally from Spain, and had grants of land from the king so big that they could ride for days as the crow flies and not leave their ranches. They lived like lords that you read about, with a hundred or so Indians to herd their cattle, and every one that happened along was welcome to the best. Helen Hunt gives you a good idea of that in 'Ramona.' I won't like to sell you this copy; it's the last I got left. You have read it? Well, as I was saying, when the Americans commenced coming in here the native Californians began losing their land. They found it necessary to have money to keep up with the procession, and the most of their ranches got pretty well plastered, so that one way or another the big grants got broke up, and so did the natives. I guess there are mighty few of them now that could pan out anything but law suits. I shouldn't wonder now if the father of that young lady once owned a million or so of acres, you can't tell. But, you bet, if he had any of it left, now that the boom has struck the town, she wouldn't be making those things," touching Mr. Brown's parcel. "Not," he added hastily, "but what they are a first class article in their way. In fact I must get her to make some more. I guess they'll take pretty well. You don't want to buy Helen Hunt's book? Mr. Dana's? Well, so long."

* * * * * * *

Shoving the bundle of lavender into the pocket of the light overcoat that hung across his arm, Mr. Brown left the hotel, and with the air of a man who has nothing to do and all the day before him he walked along the streets. Finally he entered a tall frame building bearing the legend "Furnished rooms to let." Ascending to the top floor, he opened the door of what proved to be a small apartment, well filled with a bed and bed lounge, both presenting evidence of recent use. In a corner before a small, looking glass stood a well dressed man of about 30 years of age, carefully arranging a four in hand tie. He turned as Mr. Brown entered, and looked at him expectantly, but immediately resumed his occupation.

"Well, old man," he said, "anything new?"

"No," said Mr. Brown, throwing his overcoat on the bed. The bundle of lavender dropped out of the pocket, and Mr. Brown, picking it up, shied it after the coat.

"What is that?" said the gentleman at the looking glass, "manuscript?"

"No," said Mr. Brown, with a slight look of embarrassment; "something I got at the hotel. Why the devil hasn't that Chinaman made the beds up?" he continued, impatiently. "It is nearly 12 o'clock." And going to the door Mr. Brown called out in no gentle tones: "Here you! Sing Lee! Sing Lee!"

"My dear fellow," exclaimed his companion, with an affectation of terror, "for heaven's sake, don't do that! You will stir up the old woman. I spent a whole hour this morning persuading her to be quiet for another week." And drawing Brown back into the room, he tiptoed into the entry, and cautiously peered over the banisters. Then coming back, he closed the door softly, and heaved a sigh of relief.

Brown's puzzled expression changed to a smile. "Oh," he said, "I forgot about the rent. But, I say, Benton, we can't owe her very much for this little coop; can't you pay her enough to let me kick that Chinaman into some idea of decency?"

"Can't be done, my dear boy," said his companion. "You must learn to deny yourself these luxuries."

"Talking of denial," said Brown, "I am frightfully hungry. Have you had your breakfast?"

"This don't happen to be breakfast day," said Benton, "this is lunch day; but we will have it early, in fact, I was only waiting for you to come in. We dined off the last of my watch last night, you know, so as not to break that $5 piece of yours."

At this Brown's face changed, and his eyes sought Tulita's lavender sticks, which lay upon the unmade bed. "I'll tell you what it is, Tom," he said, finally, looking up at his friend comically, "you ought to break my neck."

"Why?" said Mr. Benton.

"Simply because I am not to be trusted alone. I threw away $3 of that money this morning. You see," he continued more earnestly, "I never had an experience of this sort before, and I keep forgetting."

"Of course," said Benton, sympathetically. "We can't expect a leopard to change his spots in an instant."

"Here," continued Brown, taking out his purse, "you take charge of the rest of this."

"No, I'll be hanged if I do," replied Benton. "You forget our agreement in San Francisco after that unlucky stock deal into which I got you"——

"And in which you lost fifty thousand to my five," interrupted Brown.

"You forget our agreement," continued Benton, without heeding this remark, "that we were to pool our resources, and share equally gains and losses, from a two bit piece to a hundred thousand dollars."

"A hundred thousand dollars," repeated Brown, meditatively.

"That is nothing," said Benton, "I have made as much as that before now."

"In stocks, yes," said Brown, "but they have no stocks here."

"No," said Benton, "but they have something a hundred times better; they have a magnificent climate, and harbor, and everything to make a big city. And you mark my word, there is going to be one of the biggest booms right here that the world has ever seen. Kansas City won't be in the distance to it. Why the climate alone"——

"Oh, come down!" interrupted Brown, irreverently.

Benton laughed and said, "Seriously, Frank, if we only can manage to get hold of some land our fortune is made. I am as sure of that as that at present we are dead broke. If that wealthy father of yours back in the respectable village of Philadelphia only knew what a glorious chance there was to make a million or so right here"—— and Mr. Benton sighed.

"Well, he won't know through me," replied Brown. "If the worst comes I can always drive a team, but I won't ask him for help."

"I think you are wrong, old man," said Benton. "Not on account of the money, but on general principles. However, we will make our stake just the same. And now about lunch: I am starved."

TO THE INCREDULOUS.

There was Never the Man Who was Fooled or Humbugged—He Humbugs Himself.

The human race affords in itself a most singular study. There are among the many class of thinkers, those who repose too much confidence in others, too little confidence in themselves, or no confidence in anything. The man who knows it all himself, tho'man who thinks somebody else knows it all and the man who thinks he knows who knows it all. The egotist, the simpleton and the skeptic. Recognizing the fact that people require more substantial evidence than mere words and promises, Drs. Darrin resort to the most legitimate method of advertising themselves by advertising their cures. That those among the community may be afforded an opportunity of investigating before calling in person upon the doctors, the following testimonials are published bearing evidence of the doctors' ability and skill as well as success.

DEAFNESS CURED IN TEN MINUTES.

Mr. Editor—Dear Sir: I reside in North Yakima, W. T. I consulted Drs. Darrin for deafness. My left ear was totally deaf. With one operation with Drs. Darrin's electro-magnetic cure, of ten minutes, I was made to hear as well as ever in my life. Can be referred to as to the truth of my statement.

C. V. FOWLER.

AN OPEN LETTER.

SEATTLE, W. T.

DRS. DARRIN—Gentlemen: I now take the pleasure of writing you that after a full course of your electro-magnetic treatment I am entirely cured of a pain in my chest which has troubled me for over eight years. Having been under treatment by doctors of Liverpool, Glasgow, Calcutta and San Francisco, none of them did me any good until I came under your treatment, which I am sure has permanently cured me; for which, gentlemen, I beg to remain,

Yours gratefully,
WILLIAM LITTLE.

ASTHMA AND OPIUM HABIT CURED.

MR EDITOR—Dear Sir: I have been troubled with asthma for the past thirteen months, so bad as not to be able to do a day's work, and have suffered "torments of the damned." The paroxysms were so severe that my life was many thought to be despaired of. I had tried everything, and a great many physicians. In order to get relief I had to resort to morphine, until I had contracted the habit. I put myself under their electro-magnetic treatment. Now, after several treatments, I am entirely cured of my asthma and the morphine habit, and I have no craving for the drug. I can be referred to at the McKenzie House, foot of Marion street, Seattle, W. T.

H. A. JOHNSON.

CURE OF CATARRH AND VARICOSE VEINS.

TO THE PUBLIC: For ten years I have been troubled with a very disagreeable catarrh and bronchitis. I finally got so bad that I had to give up my business of ranching and riding for my stock. The catarrh extended to my lungs and stomach. My physicians gave me up as incurable. Last October I came to Drs. Darrin, and now, after three months' treatment, I consider myself so far restored as to be able to do all my own work. Before treatment I had to give up horseback riding, and could not attend to my stock at all; now I can remain in the saddle all day without fatigue. My wife had also been troubled with dropsy, milk leg and varicose veins, so she could only walk with the greatest inconvenience, and it was painful to the touch, and finally broke out in a running sore. Drs. Darring sent her medicines, and to our glad joy, she is entirely cured.

Refer to me at Sprague, W. T.

FREDERICK MOHS.

The above gentleman, Mr. Mohs, owns a farm of 2700 acres and hundreds of cattle and horses, and these statements coming from a man of undoubted integrity, and whose reputation for veracity is above suspicion; must be admitted as positively true.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM CURED.

MR. EDITOR—Dear Sir: For nearly a year I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism, and was so bad as to be unable to sit upon a chair or to get around, and suffered tortures indescribable. I came to the Drs. Darrin, Seattle, W. T., and went under their electro-magnetic treatment and home treatment. I now consider myself entirely cured. Can be referred to at Fort Blakely, W. T.

S. F. HOSKINSON.

DEAFNESS AND DISCHARGING EARS CURED

TO THE PUBLIC: I have been troubled with deafness and a discharge of one ear for over twenty years, and have tried everything. I placed myself under the Drs. Darrin's electro-magnetic treatment and I am now cured of my long standing trouble. I cheerfully recommend the doctors to afflicted humanity. Can be referred to at Stuck Junction, W. T.

JOHN WOLFLIN.

OVERFLOWING TEARS CHECKED.

TO THE PUBLIC: For a number of years I have been troubled with overflowing of tears down my cheeks, and have been operated on a number of times by a physician without success. Called on the Drs. Darrin at the International Hotel, Cherry street, and they operated upon my eye, and I now feel great relief for the first time in fourteen years. I can be referred to at 1351 Railroad street, Tacoma, W. T.

MRS. A. J. QUENTAL.

A CERTIFIED CURE.

This is to certify that I have been troubled with weak eyes for over a year past, and with a constant pain over the eye and ball, and was almost blind at times. I went to Drs. Darrin and put myself under their electro-magnetic treatment, with the happiest results, as I consider myself cured. I can be gladly referred to at White River, W. T.

JOHN MULLEN.

Uniformed

The letter carriers donned their new uniforms to-day and were the latest attraction on the streets. The suit consists of grey Canadian home-spun coat and trousers, trimmed with red. On the collar of each coat are the letters C. P. O. The head gear is a light white helmet. Each man is provided with a good rain coat and rubber overcoat for wet weather, also a pair of leggins. Each has also a number on his collar. The hearts of many young ladies will flutter when postman No. 3 comes around their residences. He is the dude of the force and looks "nobby" in the new apparel.

IS IT ANOTHER ELDORADO?

Promising Discovery of Placer Diggings on Quartz Creek.

Early this spring two men went over to the Horse Fly Creek, says the Donald Truth, but the snow was too deep and they had to return. Later, Harry Lovewell, G. B. Nagle, Raymond Allen and Tom Horn, all old-time prospectors, packed in some grub and began prospecting the creek and its branches. In the fore part of this month they made a discovery on Porcupine Creek, a tributary of Quartz Creek. They report taking out $1.70 worth of dust an hour to the man, one nugget weighing over 50 cents, for the short time they worked. The creek bed is from 150 to 200 feet wide, with gravel banks carrying coarse gold. Bed-rock is reached in from 4 to 6 feet, with but few large boulders interfering. There is about 75 miner's inches of water, with which to work the six miles of ground, it prospecting good for the entire distance. It is safe to say the diggings are worth over $6 a day to the man. These gentlemen intend to put in a bed-rock flume to work their ground.

Quartz Creek is liable to develop into a good poor man's placer camp, and if it does the people of Donald will be benefitted.

Killed by a Cave.

Opium on the Free List.

The Mills tariff bill which passed through the House of Representatives at Washington on Friday last by a majority of thirteen, places opium on the free list. It was explained by the introducer that the annual duties collected by the United States government was $468,000.

Sooke and Texada Copper.

Mr. O. B. Hardy, who has returned from Montana reports that the samples of Sooke and Texada copper ore which he carried with him were tested at Butte and Helena with satisfactory results. The Texada ore ran 18 per cent. copper, 6 ounces silver, and about $8 gold. The Sooke ore was found to be low grade copper, carrying no silver or gold. It would, however, pay if it will concentrate and can be procured in sufficient quantity.

Both take Toddy.

McGarrigle, the Chicago boodler, is visiting the Banff hot springs. He writes to say that he is having a good time with the ladies, "attending the nicest parties" daily, and concludes with the following additional information:—"Don't give it away, but I am a member of the choir of the English church, and on extra occasions sing with the Methodists. Both preachers live at the house, and they are capital Englishmen; both like a good cigar and a little quiet toddy in the evening. They are both great fishermen and sportsmen generally."

Opium for Honolulu.

The San Francisco Custom House officers have seized 360 five-tael boxes of smuggled opium on the bark Forest Queen, bound for Honolulu. The opium arrived on the steamer Parthia, and was transferred to the bark. It bore a manufacturer's stamp, to indicate that it had been manufactured in San Francisco from crude opium on which the tax had been paid. The labels were a forgery. The haul is worth about $2,000, but would have brought a great deal more in Honolulu, where it is worth $50 a pound, its importation on the island being prohibited.

Donald the Bad.

The Donald Truth takes Henry Norman to task for what he has said about Donald. It tells him that he has been publishing "exaggerated stories of her dissolute past," that he is "a pretty letter write, but also a pretty good all-round liar." It avers that Donald has just as good people in it as any other place, and it is not the insignificant village which Mr. Norman would lead people to believe. "The idea," says Truth, "of calling a town 'tough' and of 'no importance' that has two churches, a public library and reading-room, a free school, etc." By the way, if Donald has a public library it is just that much ahead of Victoria.

A Bridegroom Funked.

A young schoolmaster of Walkerton, Ont., named Watts, paid attention to Miss Moore, the eldest daughter of W. Moore, of Acton, for some time as her accepted lover. The 18th was set for the celebration of the nuptials, and preparations were made for about 200 guests invited to attend the feast. At the eleventh hour the bridegroom's courage failed and he took passage for the States. It is said he yielded to a like impulse some time ago when another very estimable young lady was concerned. There is great indignation against the young man at Acton, where the family and friends of the bride are leading people and highly respected.

Marine.

Ship Glory of the Seas sailed from San Francisco on Wednesday last for Nanaimo.

The new boiler for the O R & N steamer North Pacific was brought to Tacoma on Friday by the Alki. The repairs on the North Pacific have been delayed for several months by the non-arrival of her boiler. It will probably be six weeks more before the boiler is in place and she can be put on the route.

Following vessels are now due and on the way from California ports: American ship Rosie Welt, from San Francisco to Nanaimo; American bark Fred Litchfield, Young, from San Francisco for Melbourne; American ship Edward O'Brien, from San Pedro for Hobson's Bay; British ship Earl Granville, from San Diego for Hobson's Bay; American bark Sunbeam from San Francisco to Burrard Inlet for Shanghai.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

From Spirit Land—An Eloquent Lecture by Father Drummond.

"Is there any further news from Spirit Land, from the seat of war, or do they give any hint about the by-laws?" "No, Major, there's nothing further from the seat of war, but as for them by-laws, why it would be pitching the people's money into James Bay; but they won't get a penny of the money. The only good that could be done is in regard to the library. I agree with you in what you said about the by-laws in last evening's issue of THE TIMES. If we can get something done about the library it will be a step towards advancement. Oh! indeed, you need not appeal to the philanthropist or the parsons. Well, well, I know both well enough to say—'bosh.' Your idea about the Institute is good, but we had one before; it fell to the ground all owing to clerical interference, and therefore indifference by the laity. Ex-Mayor Fell saved the books by a great effort, and endeavored to start the library again. Now, what earthly good will a sewer down Johnson street do the city at large? Certainly it will make property in that locality more desirable than at present; some new houses lately erected there will then rent, and that's what's wanted with the sewers. Wharf street men are already talking about an injunction.

"No, I'm not going to the lecture; I'd—" The "spirit" vanished off into thin air and was lost in a whirlwind of dust away up Government street.

The lecture in Philharmonic Hall last evening, by the Rev. Father Drummond, on the "Unreasonableness of Unbelief," was well and largely attended. Clergymen of various denominations were present, amongst whom were noticed Very Rev. Archdeacon Scriven, Rev. Mr. McLeod, Rev. Mr. Beaulands, Rev. Jenns, Rev. Mr. McCrae, etc. The ladies turned out in great force, and those of the male persuasion—oh! dear; they were away down at the club. The chair was taken by Mayor Grant at half-past eight o'clock, who, in a well-timed speech, introduced the lecturer. The gifted and learned divine delivered the address with that ease and fluency seldom to be met with, handling his subject with all the grace and eloquence of a studied orator. To attempt even any lengthened synopsis would require a large space to do the important subject justice. The unbelievers were divided into two classes, the atheists or bullies—the John L. Sullivan's—and the agnostics or Jews of the party. The belief in a Supreme Being was universal; from infancy upward it still remained, although that of spirits, ghosts or goblins vanished (he does not know Victoria). Carlyle and Gladstone were our modern type of thought, against Payne, Ingersoll and others. The former said that we had degenerated in thought from the flood, and that Darwin was on apostle of the gospel of dirt. The ancient men of thought and great logicians like Aristotle, Lucius and Epicurus, had no competitors in our modern days. Paul and the apostles faced Rome in her depths of degeneracy and vice, preached Christ and Him crucified, the cross the badge of shame—with nothing else these men of no learning preached the doctrines of Christ. The interesting discourse was brought to a fitting close by an oratorical effort that can have few equals. During the delivery the reverend gentleman received well deserved applause. A vote of thanks to the reverend gentleman, who in a few words returned thanks and the meeting was brought to a close. Every one well satisfied, even to

THE TOWN MAJOR.

VANCOUVER WINS.

James Bay Nine Defeated by One Run: Exciting Game.

A most exciting game of baseball was played on Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon, between the James Bay nine and the Vancouvers. The game was called at 3:40 o'clock and was finished at 5:30 o'clock, with a score of 14 to 13, in favor of the visitors. Brown, pitcher for the visitors, played a splendid game. Martin did the best all round playing, making some fine catches in centre field and a home run. Jackson and Williams played a better game than usual, although the latter was advised by his medical attendant before the game started to let some other member play behind the bat. He was suffering from a bad hand, but played to the finish.

Vancouver struck first with McLellan at the bat; he was disposed of by the battery; Lang was caught out by Mallendaine; Brown scored on an error by Stannard; Norvel was struck out. Runs, 1.

James Bays — First innings — Gouge was struck by a ball from the pitcher and took first base; Jackson caught by McLennan; Williams sent a ball to right field allowing Gouge to score; Widdowson out on first; Williams scored; Stannard out on strikes, leaving Franklin on third base—Runs, 2.

Second innings—Vancouver—Larwell out on first, Allan caught out by Jackson; Metz out on strikes—Runs, 0.

Second innings—James Bays—Sullivan made a four bagger; Smith made a safe base hit; Mallendaine struck out; Smith out running to third; Gouge disposed of by battery—Runs, 1.

Third innings — Vancouver — Brophy made first on an error by Franklin; Martin made first on an error by Smith; Brophy scored, McLellan out on first; Lang out on strikes; Martin scored on a base hit by Brown; Norvel out on strikes leaving Brown on second—Runs, 2.

James Bay—Jackson made third on a three base hit; Jackson scored on a base hit by Williams; Widdowson was disposed of by the battery; Stannard went out on strikes; Williams reached home plate; Sullivan out on strikes—Runs 2.

Fourth Innings—Vancouver—Larwell sent a safe base hit to left field; Allan sent a three bagger to centre field and Larwell scored; Allen scored on an error by Gouge; Brophy out on strikes; Metz scored; McLellan was put out on first; Lang was disposed of on first; Martin was left on third—Runs, 3.

James Bay—Smith made first on an error by Norvell; Smith scored and Mallendaine was declared out on first; Gouge sent a fly to Metz in left field; Williams was caught by Martin in centre field, leaving Jackson on third.—Runs 1.

Fifth Innings — Vancouver — Brown scored on an error by Smith in centre field; Norwell went out on strikes; Larwell out on first on a good play by Mallendaine; Allen made first on a base hit; Allen scored on a base hit by Metz; Brophy out on first, leaving Metz on second.—Runs 2.

James Bay—Widdowson out on strikes; Franklin took first on called balls; Stannard out on strikes; Sullivan out on first; Stannard left on third—Score 0.

Sixth Innings—Vancouver — Martin sent a good ball to Smith which was muffed and Martin made third; McLellan reached first on an error by Jackson; Martin scored; Lang made a safe base hit; Mallendaine caught Brown; McLellan and Lang scored on a base hit by Norvel which was muffed by Mallendaine; Larwell was out on a foul well caught by Williams; Allen sent a ball to right field which brought Norvel and Allen in; Brophy was disposed of by the battery leaving Metz on second—Runs, 5.

James Bay—Smith out on first; Mallendaine made first on an error by Allen; Gouge made a base hit; Jackson reached first on an error; Mallendaine scored; Gouge was forced off second; Jackson scored on an error by McLellan; Franklin struck out leaving Williams and Widdowson on bases—Runs, 2.

Seventh Innings, Vancouver—Martin went out on strikes; McLellan made first on an error by Mallendaine; McLellan out on second; Lang out on second by Williams and Gouge.

James Bay—Stannard out on first; Sullivan out on first; Smith was caught by Martin. This was the prettiest catch of the day and was the means of disposing of the James Bays without a run.

Eighth Innings, Vancouver—Brown reached first on a ball to left field; Norvel out on a foul; Larwell was disposed of by the battery; Allen was well caught in left field by Sullivan.—Runs, 0.

James Bay—Mallendaine out on first; Gouge sent a ball to Lang and was declared out; Jackson make a safe hit to first; Williams sent a splendid ball to right field, bringing Jackson home and scoring himself.—Runs, 2.

Ninth innings—Vancouver—Metz out on first on a good throw from Gouge to Widdowson; Brophy out on three strikes; Martin made a home run; McLellan made a safe base hit; Lang out on a good fly catch by Williams.

James Bays—Franklin was first to bat and made first on an error by third baseman; Stannard struck to short stop; Franklin reached third; Franklin reached home on an error by the catcher; Sullivan out on strikes; Stannard scored; Smith scored; Mallendaine out on strikes; Gouge was left on third by Jackson sending a ball to first base.—Runs, 3.

Mr. A. Campbell acted as umpire and gave very fair decisions. He was struck by a foul ball during the match and incapacitated for a short time. The score was as follows:

THE FRISKY CHINAMAN.

What Would the Ladies Do Without Him?

Dean Carmichael and a party of friends has returned to Montreal from an extended and most enjoyable trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway to Vancouver. The Dean is enthusiastic with everything he saw, the scenery, the country, the luxurious travelling accommodation, the punctuality of the C. P. R., the magnificent work the trans-continental road has done, and is destined to do, in opening up the country; and last, but not least, even with the Chinese he saw on the Canadian Pacific slope. Victoria, the beautiful, old fashioned capital, the Dean says, seems to be run by the Chinese, who appear to have both enterprise and skill. They went to China Town, about which so much has been heard, and his impression was that it was a most respectable place. Some of the Chinamen were most magnificent fellows, being six feet in height and broad withal. Instead of hearing any complaints about them everybody appeared only too glad to have them. They do all the work of the place, and ladies would really not know what to do without them. There is a universal cry in the west for more emigrants of the agricultural class. The whole stretch of prairie is one great farm, and for days they travelled over the most magnificent land with absolutely nobody on it. The accommodation for immigrants is perfectly marvellous, and far exceeds in the comfort of the cars and every convenience what he had ever heard or anticipated. In British Columbia, which is not yet developed, no doubt a different class of immigrant is required, as the resources of that country are chiefly mining. With regard to the work of the church out there he thinks it is progressing as well as it did in old Canada. Every little place appeared to have a church or sometimes two.

ALASKA NEWS.

Big Profits—A Military Company—Salmon in Plenty.

Three revenue cutters are at present cruising in the Behring Sea for the purpose of protecting the seal fisheries, namely: the Bear, the Rush, and the Corwin.

At Sitka salmon are caught almost every day by the boat-load, the supply being so abundant that the price asked is almost nominal. Fish weighing from 10 to 25 lbs. are worth from 5 to 10 cents apiece. Immense quantities are being salted for winter consumption.

During the year 1887 the net profits of the Alaska Commercial Company, from the seal industry, the sale of furs and skins, and the running of supply stores in various sections of the Territory, exceeded $2,000,000.

Capt. John C. Hunter, on his last trip on the Elder, planted a post and hoisted a black flag thereon upon the summit of the Muir Glacier, leaving a note-book and compass alongside, all in commemoration of his visit to Glacier Bay.

The military company organized at the Mission, Sitka, and drilled weekly by Lieut. Jas. A. Turner, turned out forty-seven strong on the Fourth of July. They were armed with Springfield rifles, kindly furnished by the executive department of the civil government; and in their blue uniforms presented a fine, soldierly appearance. They marched to the plaza, thence to the custom house where they were inspected by Acting Governor H. E. Haydon.

SALVATION ARMY DRUM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The Salvation Army are treated with consideration in this city and receive no annoyance. They are not molested by any one and are not disturbed at their meetings. It is perhaps not too much to ask from them the same consideration for others as they receive themselves. For instance, at Father Drummond's excellent lecture last evening, the big drum which was being hammered in the next building was a confounded nuisance, the words of the lecturer being often inaudible on account of it. I do not desire to say anything of the peculiar form of worship adopted by the army, I simply desire to impress the golden rule upon their minds, to remind them that a kindly consideration for the feelings of others is one of the first attributes of a consistent follower of the meek and lowly.
